

rainstick
TRADING

Damaru

The damaru is from Pakistan and India. It is a pellet drum with an hourglass shaped body. When the drum is shaken from side to side, pellets strike the skins to make a loud rattling sound.

It is especially associated with the God Shiva, and legend has it that Shiva gave the world its first words as the sounds of the Sanskrit language arose from his drumbeats.